ABOUT THE CENTRE FOR HEALTHCARE INNOVATION

The Centre for Healthcare Innovation (CHI), hosted by NHG Health, serves as a transformation engine driving innovation across Singapore's healthcare system.

We innovate for future care, for future health, for future generations — by harnessing the power of our innovation cycle. This begins with redesigning care models to meet evolving needs, integrating smart technologies to enhance delivery, and reshaping workforce roles to build resilience and adaptability.

CHI's work spans multiple levels of impact: improving value at the point of care, enabling health and social change at the systems level, and cultivating a sustainable healthcare ecosystem for generations to come.

HOW CAN YOU COLLABORATE WITH CHI?

Translate your best practices and lessons learnt into healthcare leadership insights, systems change, and health policy influence. Align your work with future healthcare needs and plans.

Co-Author with CHI

Write thought leadership publications, management frameworks and models that translate organisational insights into influential discourse for healthcare leaders, policymakers, and industry stakeholders. This includes summative articles, reflections, and project features.

Research with CHI

Conduct organisational and health system research or analysis with CHI, examining introspectively the successes and areas for improvement. Explore how theoretical frameworks apply in practice through joint management studies and collaborative reflection on real-world implementation.

Present with CHI

Join CHI at conferences, seminars, and policy forums where you can participate as co-presenters, keynote speakers, or panel discussants. This includes collaborative workshop facilitation and joint thought leadership sessions that combine both organisations' perspectives and expertise.
